

restaurant development+design

July/August 2015

BUZZ who's doing what

David Burke Group's Trilogy to Debut at Silverspot Cinemas

Hospitality company David Burke Group, New York, raised the curtain on an original new concept developed in partnership with Silverspot Cinemas in June. Aptly named Trilogy, the concept brings together “film, fare and libations” for moviegoers and culinary enthusiasts alike. The first Trilogy is in Silverspot's Coconut Creek, Fla., location. A second is set to open this August at the theater chain's Chapel Hill, N.C., location.

In addition to developing the Trilogy concept, which focuses on inventive American cuisine, David Burke Group will oversee the theatre's overall food and beverage program. The company describes Trilogy as “a chic and contemporary American café featuring innovative twists on classic dishes.” It will offer a variety of culinary options, including a full-service restaurant with patio, designed by New York-based Glen & Co.; modern concessions with locally curated specialty items; and an elegant lounge and premium bar with a selection of appetizers, sandwiches, pizzas, pastas, entrees and sweets.

With 120 seats, the spacious restaurant, bar and lounge feature a combination of wood-lined walls and wooden chairs. Lighting casts an orange-accented glow to the surfaces, transforming the space's modern and sleek design into an inviting and warm atmosphere. Wood shelving divides the spaces to create a sense of coziness while also showcasing an array of modern kitchen gadgets that add to the American café concept.